

Curriculum Vitae

Chang, Fung-Wei M.D., Ph.D.

EDUCATION

MD: National Defense Medical Center

PhD: Department of Health Promotion and Health Education ,

PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATIONS

Obstetrics and Gynecology

Reproductive Medicine

Medical Ultrasound

Hospice Palliative Medicine

Research ethics

Clinical trial

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Director, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology and Reproductive Medicine Center, Tri-Service General Hospital, National Defense Medical Center.

Superintendent, Tri-Service General Hospital Penghu Branch

President, Taiwan Association of IRBs (TAIRB)

Medical member, Tri-Service General Hospital IRB (TSGH IRB).

Director, Administration Center of TSGH IRB

Chair, Joint Institutional Review Board.

Medical member, National Taiwan Normal University Research Ethical committee.

Western Institutional Review Board, Board Member

Chair, TSGH Biobank Ethics and Governance committee

Dr. Fung-Wei Chang is the Director, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. In this position, He is responsible for leading all operational activities across Obstetrics and Gynecology programs at Tri-Service General Hospital, National Defense Medical Center. He has over 20 years' experience in the Obstetrics and Gynecology and Reproductive Medicine. He received the WHO international fellowship training program for research ethics at Western Institutional Review Board, US on 2009. He is an OBS & GYN physician and Director, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology and Reproductive Medicine Center. He holds a PhD in Health Promotion and Health Education from National Taiwan Normal University.